DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's RCE dated 6/11/07 has been received in application serial number 10/511,385. All comments have been taken into consideration.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant elected Species of figure 2 and claims 1, 4-6, 19-23, 25-30, 33-37, 39-40, and 43-50 in a response dated April 18, 2006. Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claims 2-3, 7-18, 24, 31-32 and 38 have been withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Art Unit: 3738

Claim 35 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 35 recites the limitation "the diameter D". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 4-6, 19-22, 26-30, 34-37, 39-40, 44-50 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Stack et al. 6,675, 809. Stack et al. discloses the invention as currently claimed comprising :

A device for treatment of obesity of a patient comprising: an annular element (see figures 17-19b) having a relatively large outer boundary and a relatively small inner boundary (312); an elongated flexible tube extending between a proximal end (see 9:19-24 and figures 4a and 4c) and a distal end, said tube defining a central lumen within said tube(inherent that a tube has an inner lumen), said proximal end of said tube being connected to said relatively small inner boundary of said annular element (see "extends from opening 308 9:19-20), and forming a continuous passageway through a region interior to said relatively small inner boundary and said lumen, wherein said relatively large outer boundary of said annular element is adapted to be attached to an inner wall of a stomach of said patient, such that said annular element divides said stomach into two chambers, an esophagus-end chamber close to an esophagus of said patient, and a pylorus-end chamber close to a pylorus of said patient, and wherein said esophagus-end chamber is in fluid communication with said lumen of said tube; an enclosed volume of about 30-70ml (8:11-13). It is noted that applicant has utilized multiple intended use recitation/functional language throughout the claims, which carries no patentable weight in the absence of any distinguishing structure. Stack et al. clearly discloses the structure as claimed and is found to be inherently capable of performing the functions.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3738

Claim 25 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stack et al. 6,675,809. Stack et al. has been disclosed supra as having a bypass tail/flexible tube which extends from annular portion 302), however Stack et al. does not specify the length. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide a flexible tube with a length between about 50-200cm because this would allow to costume tailor the tube to different anatomical sizes of different patients and Stack et al. does envision (even though it is utilized in the small intestine) a flexible tube of 20 cm or more in length for the passage of gastric juices see 9:44-55.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 23, 33 and 43 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
